H. C. Adams, Halvor Erickson and Judge Lyons
Hold Their Places—The Appointments
Announced by Gov. La Follette Today.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—After the adjournment of the legislature Gov. La Follette announced the re-appointment of C. R. Boardman of Oshkosh as adjutant general of the state. The appointment will come as a surprise to many who had expected a change in the position, in view of the fact that General Boardman has been among the most pronounced "Stalwarts," but it is undoubtedly made in recognition of his services.

Oppose Primary Election Law.
The democrats of the Dane county board of supervisors today put themselves on record as opposed to the primary election law, the recommendation of which was a chief feature of Gov. La Follette's message. Through the absence of four republican members and by securing the votes of three republicans who were present, the democrats, voting solidly, with the exception of one man, Mr. Jackson, passed by a majority of five a memorial to the legislature against the proposed election law.

Anderson Dropped Out.
Gov. La Follette today sent five appointments to the senate as follows: Norman L. Gilson, as tax commissioner.

Nils P. Haugen, of Black River Falls, as assistant tax commissioner. Halvor Erickson, of Superior, as commissioner of labor.

H. C. Adams, state dairy and food commissioner.

W. P. Lyon as a member of the state board of control.

All are re-appointments except that of Haugen who takes W. J. Anderson's place on the tax commission.

Contest on Haugen
Judge Gilson's appointment was confirmed under suspension of the rules but the others went over until Wednesday. It is understood a contest will be made on Haugen.

Both Houses Adjourned.
The assembly committee on railroads reported the anti-pass bill constitutional amendment for second passage.

In the senate Mosher introduced a bill prohibiting the insurance of any state buildings. Both houses adjourned until Monday evening.

ROCK COUNTY AS AN EXAMPLE.

Pays $30,000 per Year for Educational Purposes With No Benefit

Madison, Jan. 25.—The present method of raising and distributing funds for educational purposes presents a great many inequalities, but all attempts to modify the system have failed in the past. Assemblyman Dodge of Green county, who is fond of delving into figures, has been making some comparisons and he cites Rock county as an example to show how the system works. That county has two excellent colleges, Beloit and Milton, which not only do not receive any state aid but have to stand the competition of the university. On the one mill tax which is collected on the property of the state and distributed according to the school population, the county loses several thousand dollars a year, in addition to which it pays its portion of the cost of maintaining the university and normal schools. Mr. Dodge figures

ENCOURAGES BIG FAMILIES.

Wisconsin Has Bill Designed to Increase Population.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—Assemblyman Sarau of Oshkosh has prepared two sensational bills, which he will shortly introduce in the legislature. One is a bill to encourage the development of population by the state, giving an annual premium to the mothers of large families. According to the provisions of Mr. Sarau's measure the mother of six children is to receive $10 annually, the mother of seven $12, the mother of eight $15, the mother of nine $20, the mother of ten $25, the mother of eleven $30 and the mother of twelve or more, $35. The other bill is one providing a special tax of $10 annually upon all unmarried men over 30 years of age. Mr. Sarau does not claim to be the author of the bills, and it is said that both were drafted by members of the Women's club of Oshkosh.

that the county pays $30,000 a year for educational purposes from which it receives no benefits, to say nothing of the effect of the other institutions upon its colleges.

Osteopathy Bill Will Pass.

The senate bill for the regulation of osteopathy seems to be meeting with considerable favor. There are a number of gentlemen who are working in the interest of the bill. Among them are Dr. Cherry and Dr. Elton of the Milwaukee college of osteopathy, and Dr. Elton, a Janesville osteopathist. Chris. Doerfler, the well-known Milwaukee attorney, has also been here in the interest of the bill. Mr. Doerfler is prepared to testify from personal experience that osteopathy is a good thing. He suffered for two years from ill health which the regular physicians were not able to relieve and finally tried osteopathy as a last resort and was very much benefited. Senator Roehr thinks that the bill will pass. He believes that osteopathy has come to stay and for that reason it should be regulated for the protection of the public just as medicine and dentistry are.

Fight Over Spring Shooting.

Apparently the city hunters and the farmers are to be arrayed against each other at this session in a fight over spring shooting. The farmers want to shoot ducks in the spring and the city hunters want spring shooting prohibited. Many county boards have passed resolutions prohibiting spring shooting, and remonstrances are beginning to come from the cities. Endless suggestions for the better protection of game are coming in. A good many hunters favor a shorter deer season and more vigorous measures to protect the deer during the closed season.

Premiums for Big Families

Assemblyman Sarau of Oshkosh has two remarkable bills which he will introduce shortly. One is to encourage the development of population by having the state pay an annual premium to the mothers of large families as follows: Mothers having six children, $10; seven children, $12; eight, $15; nine, $20; ten, $25; eleven, $30; twelve, $35. The other is entitled a bill to encourage matrimony, and is said to have been drafted by the Woman's club of Oshkosh. It provides that the assessors of the towns shall take a list of the unmarried men of 30 years of age or over and fix a special tax of $10 a year on them. Neither widowers nor divorced men are to be considered unmarried young men.

Circuit Judge's Salaries.

It is said that a bill will soon be introduced in the senate providing for an increase in the salaries of the circuit judges of the state. The bill will also it is said, provide an increase in the salaries of the justices of the supreme court. The circuit judges are to be increased from $3,500 a year to $5,000 and the supreme court justices from $5,000 to $6,500.

Barber's Lobbyist.

M. H. Whittaker of Janesville today registered in the lobbyists' book in the office of the secretary of state as the representative of the Wisconsin Barbers' Protective association. He will work for the passage of the barbers' license bill.

OPEN WAR ON CIGARETS.

Two States Take Up Subject in Their Legislatures.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—A plan to stop the manufacture and sale of cigars was brought before the Illinois house and its promoters promise to press for immediate action upon it. Representative George W. Witt, a farmer of Kane county, presented the anti-cigarette bill. It is a stringent affair and prohibits the manufacture, sale, or giving way of cigars anywhere within the state under a penalty of a fine of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days, or both. Representative Witt explained that personally he had no acquaintance with cigars, but there is a young man in his little town who has become a physical wreck on account of their use and the sight of him persuaded him that they should be abolished.

HAS KILLED TWELVE LIONS.

Roosevelt Having Great Success in His Hunt.

Meeker, Col., Jan. 25.—News direct from the Keystone ranch, at which place the Roosevelt hunting party is stopping, shows that between the 12th and the 22d of January twelve grown mountain lions, three kittens and eight lynx cats were killed. On Saturday last the party had quite an exciting adventure with one lion. The lion was held captive by and was fighting with the whole pack of hounds. The hunters were trying to get near enough to the animal to kill it with their knives when it seized one of the dogs by the jaw. Gov. Roosevelt shoved the breach of the gun into the lion's mouth, holding the gun by one hand, with the other striking the lion a death blow with his knife.

His gun shows the marks of the lion's teeth. All the grown lions were killed with the knife. The governor has decided to stay for another two weeks.

GOT FEVER AT SANTIAGO.

Alfred Rosetzky Dies After More than Two Years of Suffering.

New York, Jan. 25.—After suffering for more than two years with Cuban fever, Alfred Rosetzky, who is said to have been the first American soldier to ford San Juan creek, where the fiercest of the Spanish fire was directed in the battle of San Juan hill, has just died in a Newark hospital. He contracted the fever in Santiago, and was a mere skeleton when he got home. At San Juan, Rosetzky fought in troop C, 6th cavalry. His clothes were cut by bullets and, while he was ascending the hill with a number of other soldiers, a shell exploded by them. A lump of earth struck the young soldier in the side, knocking him senseless. After the battle he was personally complimented for his courage by Gen. Wheeler.

CALL FOR DR. EATON; HE MAY RESIGN

Beloit College Likely To Lose Its President—He is Wanted by a Bay State Church.

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 25.—The announcement that Dr. Edward D. Eaton for fourteen years the president of Beloit college, is likely to sever his connection with the institution which he created caused a tremendous surprise among citizens of this city. Not even members of the faculty had received a hint that Dr. Eaton was considering other work.

Dr. Eaton is to receive in a day or two the call to the pastorate of the Congregational church at Millford, Mass. He preached there twice last fall and made so strong an impression that the church has voted to engage his services at a handsome salary.

Dr. Eaton himself will talk but little regarding the matter. He will consider the call seriously when it comes he says, but will add no further word. It is known that he has been deluged with responsibilities for a number of years, including the raising of the funds necessary to secure endowments and it is hinted that this work is not altogether to his liking.

Work of Jew Baiters.

Buda Pest, Jan. 25.—Jew baiters at Schoenau in Bohemia, burned two synagogues and three textile factories belonging to the Jews causing the death of ten. Four thousand are out of work and the loss is half a million kroner.

WOMEN WHIP MRS. CARRIE NATION ATTACKED BY LIQUOR DEALER'S WIFE

The Temperance Advocate Strikes Back Knocking
One of Her Assailants Down—Police Stop Fight in the Street.

Enterprise, Kas., Jan. 25.—When Mrs. Carrie Nation began trying to smash things yesterday she was met by the "jointist's" wife, aided by three other women armed with horsewhips.

The fracas was started by Mrs. Schilling. At 10 o'clock Mrs. Nation in company with Mrs. Hoffman and some other W. C. T. U. leaders, entered a store two blocks away from William Shook's saloon, which is still unmolested. Mrs. Nation apparently to give him warning that she would attack his place sent for Shook. He complied, but before many words were exchanged between the two she was assaulted by a crowd of women partisans of the saloons, who had organized since the last raid and had been awaiting today's threatened destruction of property.

A general fight between the women ensued, during which a woman heavily veiled, rained blow after blow upon Mrs. Nation with a horsewhip. Men drawn to the scene became interested spectators, but offered no aid to either side. Quiet was restored only when

QUEEN'S FUNERAL WILL BE MARTIAL

The Army and Navy of Great Britain To Participate.

BODY LYING IN STATE

King Edward VII. Replies to the Condolences From Wm. McKinley.

GREAT AVENUE OF WARSHIPS

Cowes, Jan. 25.—The queen's body was placed in a coffin at ten o'clock this morning and transferred by officers to the royal yacht from the dining room at Osborne to the temporary chapel. The king superintended the removal of the body and followed the coffin down the stairs. Detachments of the queen's company of Grenadier guards are guarding the catafalque. The public will not be admitted to view the remains. The German crown prince will arrive tomorrow morning.

Funeral Procession Route.

London, Jan. 25.—The funeral procession on Feb. 2, from Victoria station will be over the same route as that taken by Roberts early in the month. A squadron of German warships, commanded by Henry of Prussia, and representatives of the most of the foreign navies, will join the British fleet at Spithead to assist in the ceremonies.

Edward Replies to McKinley.

Washington, Jan. 25.—McKinley has received the following in reply to the condolences sent to King Edward: "Osborne, President, White House, Washington. Am most grateful for your kind sympathy in the irreparable loss which this nation and I have sustained. I felt convinced that it would be shared by you and the American people. Signed, Edward R."

FUNERAL WILL BE MARTIAL.

East Cowes, Jan. 25.—While the sovereign's rank and title were being conferred on Edward VII. in his capital, preparations for honoring the body of Victoria absorbed her household here. Osborne House still remains the queen's private residence. None of her subjects among the public has yet been allowed in the presence of the body or to enter her apartments in the pavilion. Flowers arrived there in profusion from the gardens at Windsor. These were taken to decorate the dining room, which is now a mortuary chapel. It is immediately below the queen's bedroom. The coffin was carried down the grand staircase and placed on a dais in the center of the mortuary chapel. The pictures, like the walls, are entirely hidden by crimson cloth, except two tapestries on either side of a window. In regard to the public obsequies it is now certain that there will be a magnificent display of naval power in the form of a great avenue of warships, and the queen will be borne on the waters between two lines of ships to Portsmouth, where there will be a military guard to escort the body to Windsor Castle, where the funeral will take place on Feb. 2. The military tribute will be as grand as possible, allowing for the absence of the cream of the army in South Africa. The queen took the greatest interest to the close of her life in the welfare of the army. When the princesses sought to soothe her deep concern in the suffering of the soldiers she would reply: "I am myself a soldier's daughter."

PERSONAL MEETINGS WITH QUEEN.

Lady Randolph Churchill Writes of Victoria's Shyness.

London, Jan. 25.—Mrs. George Cornwallis-West, who was Lady Randolph Churchill and previous to her marriage Miss Jennie Jerome of New York city, has written the following: "The queen may be counted on as one of the victims of the war. Every defeat, every unsuccessful skirmish, the loss or wounding of any brave soldier, was personal to her. When I had the honor of seeing her majesty at Windsor in December, 1899, before leaving for South Africa in the American hospital ship Maine, she evinced the greatest interest in all the details and fittings of the ship, and particularly as to the history of the hospital staff, doctors and nurses, whom she had received a few days previously. Several times she repeated to me: "It is very good of the American people to subscribe for this ship, and I am most grateful to them for coming over and helping to take care of my sick and wounded."

Thought There Was a Plot.

London, Jan. 25.—While King Edward VII. was driving in the royal equipage to Victoria station bystanders along the way were horrified to see a man spring forward, stop the vehicle and hastily thrust something inside. For a moment the crowd believed an attempt was being made on the life of the new monarch. The daring man, however, was not hindered in any way by the king's attendants and the momentary alarm of the people gave away to a feeling of relief when it was learned that only a package of documents had been hurriedly passed in to the king. The contents of the documents is not known. The king was not perturbed by the incident.

DECISION AGAINST WILLIAM BYRNE

Judge Fifield Dismisses His Action for Forcible Entry and Unlawful Detainer.

A short time ago William Byrne commenced an action in the justice court against Colin C. MacLean, Nona S. MacLean and Clara Scarcliff Bostwick for forcible entry and unlawful detainer on account, as he claimed of his being unlawfully deprived of the possession of a room he had rented in the block owned by the defendants. This action was dismissed when it came to trial on account of faulty service of the papers in the case and because the court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Another action was immediately commenced in the municipal court and extra pains taken to see that there should be no flaw in the service of the papers. An experienced officer was secured to make the service and return them as required by statutes. The case came up for trial yesterday in the municipal court. E. H. Ryan and E. F. Carpenter appeared for Byrne and George G. Sutherland appeared especially for Nona S. MacLean and Clara Scarcliff Bostwick. Charles E. Pierce appeared for Colin C. MacLean.

After the plaintiff had put in his testimony George G. Sutherland for the defendants, Nona MacLean and Clara Scarcliff Bostwick, moved that the case against them be dismissed for the reason that he had not proven the defendants guilty. Judge Fifield sustained the motion and dismissed the case against them and gave them a judgment against Byrne for $11.81 costs.

Charles E. Pierce the attorney for Colin C. MacLean moved that the case against his client be dismissed for the reason that the summons in the action did not state that the complaint had been filed. Judge Fifield held that this was a fatal defect and dismissed the action.

It is not known yet what course Mr. Byrne will pursue in the matter.

HOT BATTLE AT TERAGUNA.

Lieut. Steele and His Men Kill 100
Filipinos.

Manila, Jan. 25.—Lieut. Steele, with ten men of the 43d regiment, and seven native soldiers, fought a fierce half-hour's engagement with a large force of Filipinos at Teraguna, island of Leyte, Jan. 9, which resulted in the killing of over 100 insurgents. Private Edward McGugie of company M was killed. The situation in the island of Samar since the increase of troops has been quiet. Lukban's forces are hiding. Captures, arrests and seizures of arms continue in the unpacified districts of the island of Luzon. Gen. MacArthur has ordered the deportation to the United States of George T. Rice, editor of the Daily Bulletin, a marine journal. Rice will sail on the Pennsylvania next Monday. The order characterizes him as a "dangerous incendiary and a menace to the military situation."

Making Appeals for Protection from Reds.

CITIZENS ARE ALL ARMING

Guthrie, Ok., Jan. 25.—Advices from the scene of the threatened Indian troubles in the Creek nation indicate that the situation is fast assuming a serious phase. Oklahoma has been stirred to a fever of fear, and there are the most terrifying apprehensions that Oklahoma itself will be invaded by the infuriated redskins.

The news that troops have been ordered sent to the scene of the trouble from Fort Reno has aroused the Indians to the highest pitch of reatulatory excitement and the settlers are preparing for a stubborn fight in the defense of their lives and property.

Armed bands of desperate outlaws which infest the nation and have no interest one way or the other in the grievances of the redskins are preparing to overrun the country and loot and pillage friend and foe.

Stroud is in Danger.

The insubordinate Snake band of Creek Indians living on the reservation east of Lincoln county are the ones that threaten to invade Oklahoma. At an early hour this morning Gov. Barnes received a telegram message from Stroud saying that the town was in danger of a raid from outlaws and half-breeds of the Creek nation, who would take advantage of the disturbances among the Indians to raid several towns and rob banks.

Other telegrams were received from Sheriff Tighman of Lincoln county and Lee Patrick agent for the Sac and Fox Indians, stating that the gravity of the situation, and asking that the territorial militia be sent to protect the inhabitants.

600 Warriors Armed.

Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 25.—The Creek uprising is growing to dangerous proportions. Marshal Bennett has just received a telegram from Bristow, I. T., announcing that 600 armed Creeks stationed two miles from there are preparing to attack the town and pleading for the protection of the marshal.

Marshal Bennett and Agent Shoenfelt are swearing in large numbers of deputies, whom they are forwarding to the scene of the trouble. It is now feared that they will reach the town too late, and the Mayor of Bristow has been instructed to swear in all of the men necessary to protect the town.

Soldiers are being hurried from Fort Reno to the seat of the trouble, but they will not reach Bristow before tonight, as they will arrive at Henrietta first and go overland.

Seminole May Join Snakes

Governor Brown of the Seminoles has appealed to the authorities here for aid, as a number of the tribe threaten to join the Creek Snakes.

Troops Being Rushed In.

Ardmore, I. T., Jan. 25.—Federal troops are being rushed to the scene of the Indian uprising in the Creek Nation. A troop of cavalry has been ordered from Fort Reno, O., and should reach the scene of the trouble by 8 o'clock tonight.

Bloodshed is momentarily expected, and if the clash comes it will result disastrously to the Indians, as they are greatly outnumbered.

Choctaw Rebels Choose Chief.

South McAlester, I. T., Jan. 25.—Runners sent out last night report a number of Creek Indians with the Choctaws. The Choctaw rebels elected Daniel Bell as chief, this being part of the preconcerted plan made with the Creeks last fall. The Creeks, who call themselves the snakes, acknowledge the leadership of Crazy Snake of the Creeks.

Smallpox at Withee.

Withee, Wisconsin, January 25.—Ed. Smith who came here from Stanley has the small pox. Before it was learned that he had it a number of men in a lumber camp had been exposed. When taken sick he was removed to the Withee hotel where a number of guests and traveling men were stopping. The hotel was quarantined for five days. Mr. Smith was removed to a hastily improvised pest house and the quarantine is raised upon the hotel. No other cases have developed.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Carmen" will be presented by Miss Eugenie Blair and her capable company at the Myers Grand tonight. All who have heard the grand opera of "Carmen" never hesitate to express

- THOMAS JEFFERSON IN

their admiration of the work, but the play must also be seen in order to appreciate the dramatic possibilities of Prosper Merimee's tragic romance. Calve with her wonderful voice is conceded to be the greatest Carmen on the operatic stage, but Miss Blair's portrayal of the pique and passion of the coquettish cigarette girl is even more interesting and fanciful as she needs must depend solely upon her own artistic efforts minus the effective assistance of a well-trained and well disposed chorus. There are many dramatic points in Miss Blair's version of the play that are not incorporated in the opera.

The announcement of the coming of Thomas Jefferson in Rip Van Winkle to the Myers Grand on Monday evening, Jan. 28, has heightened public curiosity, as he comes heralded as a worthy successor to his estimable father, Joseph Jefferson. This is not the first venture for Thomas, as he has appeared in the role of Rip Van Winkle for the past three seasons as the able critics throughout the country speak of him in the highest manner.

A fair sized audience gathered at the Myers Grand Opera house last evening and witnessed the presentation of Faust by one of Lewis Morrison's companies. The scenery and electrical effects were very fine and pleased the audience. George S. Timble as Mephisto, Miss Wills Foeur as Marguerite, and Edward Eisner as Faust, gave good satisfaction. As a whole the play was above the average.

TEN DAYS IN CAMP INSTEAD OF SEVEN

Wisconsin Guard Will Meet Some Radical Changes When in Camp Next Summer.

It is likely that the Wisconsin National Guard will find some radical changes when they go to Camp Douglas next summer. An effort is being made to have each regiment spend ten days in camp instead of seven as heretofore, giving the boys more practice in the post work and a better idea of life on the field. The seven days spent in camp heretofore were not long enough for the men to become thoroughly accustomed to the work. This move will lengthen out the time actually spent in camp and will give the officers a better chance to get their companies in good shape for drill during the rest of the year.

It is also likely that Krag-Jorgensen rifles will be furnished for range practice if not for arming the companies. It is also probable that the men will be supplied with rubber blankets, brown canvas uniforms and serviceable shoes. These changes will bring the National Guard pretty near on an army basis.

Five Men in the Gang.

Sheriff James P. McGorlick of Jefferson county, and Detective James Nelly arrived in the city last night in pursuit of the men who left the team of horses on Milton avenue Tuesday night. They think they are the men who committed the safe robbery at Johnson's Creek Monday night, as they have traced them from a point about five miles from Johnson's Creek, where they were in camp Monday, to where they left the horses near this city. It is thought that there were five men in the gang, and that three of them got out of the rig farther up the avenue and left the other two to bring the rig to this city.

Foulards and Muslins.

It does seem strange when one looks at the new goods which fill all the windows and then thinks of the date of the new year. It is just now that we have the coldest days of the year, and only now can the skaters fly to and fro on the ice, sitting down thereon sometimes to reflect on the mutability of things mundane.

VELVET SKATING COSTUME.

The lakes and ponds, to say nothing of a river or so, are frozen solid enough to bear any number of skaters, and the warmest of garments are seen for that purpose and these decorated with fur and lined with quilted silk. All this we know, and it is reasonable and right, but the windows, as I said, all are full of thin and frozy looking materials. Where the white goods sales are, on the windows are filled with them only, but the greatest of all the grand stores make a specialty of having a line of fine batiste and lawn goods long before the smaller fry can get hold of them. So a few stores this week have removed their white goods from exhibition and in their places have put these fine and thin summer materials. I am divided in my opinion after all and think that perhaps the sight of the delicate and summery things is pleasant. Anyhow they make us turn to look at them to the neglect of the things belonging to the midwinter.

I might say with the prophet, "I have been young; now I am old," and add that every piece of the lawns and batiste has had its day many years ago. I can remember seeing just such patterns long ago. But they are pretty and dainty and will be much liked. The usual plan in them is a corded stripe, and over that is the design. The colors are mauve, pale blue, faint pink and one or two shades of green and lilac. The pink ones have floral patterns in exceedingly faint colors, and some of them have the figures only in another shade of pink. This is a plan often carried out and always with success. The blending of three or four shades of the same color is always effective. I cannot describe these lawns better than to say they are all so old fashioned that no one in this generation and of it ever wore any like them. But that does not hinder them from being pretty. I may mention one thing which I never saw before, and that is a lawn with delicate flower design and in soft and beautiful colors, and all over the body of the stuff were tiny dots, just like dotted swiss muslin. This makes a wonderfully pretty fabric, and strong besides. This is suitable for the new shirt waists, and shirt waists are in for at least one more good year. Soft silks are shown, and most of these are in rather large design, and many, very many, are in two and three shades of blue and with white foundation. The blue is in every known shade, but the newest is an awful shade, which actually dazzles the eyes. Peacock blue, turquoise and ultramarine are also among them. But the most refined are the navy and indigo, with some pale shades and white. In some the blue predominates and in others the white. All the blue shades are seen and many delicate pinkish grays, and, besides these, there are other designs where there is a ground and over this a pattern of small flowers. But these are all rather vague, and there are no high colorings in the printed silks.

The shirt waists are in batiste, percale, madras, lawns, flannels and all sorts of silk and wool materials. The only limit to the different kinds and materials is that there are no more kinds of goods to draw on. Blouses are most popular, and from the lightest and most diaphanous and dainty material they go on to even fur. There are fur blouses, but naturally they are for the street only. And that reminds me that I have not mentioned the handsome tailored bloused suits for midwinter. I saw a beautiful suit of silk warp eudora, and the waist was made double breasted, but bloused in front. There was a deep collar and revers, and over these were others made of stitched white satin. The edges of the blouse were also stitched, but in white, while the satin was done in black. The skirt to this suit is laid with deep plaits at each side of the front breadth. They reach from the belt to the foot and are loose part of the way. This fits the skirt around the waist and gives it the proper flare at the bottom. In the back the skirt is laid in eight close folds, and to achieve that it is necessary to have the skirt very wide. This is very good economy, for when such superb material as eudora is employed it is a pity to have it all cut up into small pieces. This goods lasts forever and can be washed and look exactly like new.

Even the velvet suits are made in the prevailing style of bloused waists, and when properly designed nothing is more stylish or generally becoming. There was a skating dress made of seal brown velvet, and this had a queer blouse, inasmuch as it was a waist all around, and a tight one, but directly in front there was a double fold of the stuff, and these folds reached down below the waist. One could scarcely define the garment, but the folds being bagged over settled the case and made it a blouse. A very novel trimming to this suit consisted in two bands of mink fur all around save for a short distance in front, and these ended in under little heads. One row of this trimming went around the shoulders.

Among some of the new blouse waists one finds everything that is useful or ornamental, and some of them are really beautiful. One dainty one was of the soft taffeta, in a delicate pinkish gray. The skirt was of the same and tucked along the sides and in the center of the back. This waist was cut away at the top and in front to allow of the full vest of white silk muslin, over which is a figure form of white lace and a little pink and silver embroidery at the front. The belt is of silver ribbon. The sleeves are open and in bell shape and have full undersleeves of the muslin banded with silver cord.

TAILOR MADE OF BLACK EUDORA.

Another pretty waist is of cadet blue cashmere, and this opens on the left side. A very effective arrangement is made of fringed ribbon, and the belt is of a rich ribbon to match. All along the waist and on the neck there is sewed braid in mixed colors. This has a little metal in with the threads and brightens it up. The braid is carried up to the top of the collar and is one of the novelties of the season.

A CHILD'S JOURNEY.

Little 10-Year-Old Mary Urbana's Lonely Voyage.

The circle of American young people has been added to by the arrival of Mary Urbana from Austro-Hungary. Says the Young People's Weekly. The remarkable thing about it is that she came all the way over land and sea alone. "I am Mary Urbana. Send me to Hazleton, Pa., U. S. A.," was written on the tag attached to the waistband of this little ten-year-old woman. That and the tickets for her transportation was all the safeguard she had for her journey. Mary's parents were dead, and as she had expressed the desire to go and live with some relatives in Hazleton, certain of the people of her native town procured for her the necessary transportation and wrote the directions. While this new American girl could not speak one word of any language but Hungarian, she undertook the journey with resolution. The tears filled her eyes as she sailed away from Europe to the mysterious land that awaited her far beyond the blue seas, but she gave no other signs of childishness, and the officers of the ship on which she came say that they never had a passenger who caused them less trouble. Of course, every one on the great vessel was kind to her when it was learned how brave a journey she was making, and all the passengers tried to make the trip as pleasant for her as possible. She arrived in safety at Hazleton, a little worse for the unpleasant incidents of the rough seas which assail nearly every one. She was met at the railway station by her relatives, and made her gladness apparent by a free expression of her feeling in her native tongue. She was soon fitted out with the American style of clothing, and she is now striving resolutely to master the intricacies of the English language.

The Ragpickers' Glens Fortunes Every Year in Paris.

A duty of primary importance is discharged by the ragpickers of Paris. Working at night, busy under gaslight with hoop and panner, the value of what they collect is estimated at $10,000 a day. Assuredly one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives, says a Paris correspondent. Of course, the conditions of Paris life are exceptional. The population is very closely packed; the tall houses are crammed with inhabitants, there are no gardens, as with us—there are but the houses and the streets. The Parisians have a way of emptying all kinds of lumber and refuse into the streets, and then the ragpickers gather in their harvest. A use is found for everything, and metamorphoses never cease. Rags go to make paper; broken glass is pounded and serves as the coating for sand or emery paper; bones, after a process of cleaning and cutting down, serve to make nail brushes, tooth brushes and fancy buttons; little wisps of women's hair are carefully unraveled and do duty for false hair by and by; men's hair, collected outside the barbers' shops, serves for filters; bits of sponge are cut up and used for spirit lamps; bits of bread are carbonized and made into tooth powder; sardine boxes are cut up into tin soldiers or into sockets for candlesticks. A silk hat has a whole chapter of adventure in store for it.

Those who are showing symptoms of lung disease should instantly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will cure obstinate coughs, bronchitis and bleeding of the lungs. It increases the nutrition of the body, and so restores the emaciated form to health and strength.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I feel it my duty to give my testimonial in behalf of your great medicine," writes Mr. John T. Reed, of Jefferson, Jefferson Co., Ark. "When I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I was very low with a cough, and would at times spit blood. I was not able to do any work at all, was weak and my head was dizzy. The first bottle I took did me so much good that I had faith in it and continued until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I do not look like I feel like the same man as I was a year ago. People were astonished and said they did not think that I could live. I can thankfully say that I am entirely cured of a disease from which had it not been for your wonderful 'Discovery' I would have died."

THE GOLD STANDARD.

There remains but one thing for the fifty-sixth congress to do, to establish the gold standard, and that is to ratify the expressed will of the people.

Some half a dozen bills are now before the house having this object in view. One of the most concise is that of Representative Overstreet, which provides for the "exchangeability of the metallic currencies at the treasury at the will of the holder."

Congress will realize the importance of passing this, or some other measure equally strong, at the present session. The expression of the people at the polls last November was so emphatic on this point that congress is in duty bound to ratify.

The general impression prevails that the question is already settled beyond recall, as evidenced by restored confidence, both at home and abroad, and business of all kinds is being transacted on a gold basis. It would be criminal neglect on the part of congress to leave any loop holes for distrust.

There are two things that contribute to a nation's financial stability. One is honest money and the other is hard common sense. The United States possesses the first at the present time, in a measure, and a substantial majority of the people recently said by ballot, that they possessed the latter.

There is an old Scripture that reads, "To him that hath shall be given," and it is just as true in application to the financial and business world, as to the realm of intellect and spirit. The nation is prosperous today because we have plenty of sound money, backed by a common sense sentiment that says, we propose to keep it sound.

Our national treasury is loaded with gold because the balance of trade is in our favor, and these conditions exist, because our securities are in brisk demand in the leading money markets of the world, and all because the people had the common sense to say, "We believe in an honest dollar and a business administration."

The two houses of congress are the servants of the people, employed, not so much for inventing laws and exploiting theories, as for carrying out and ratifying the will and wishes of the people.

If every last member, not only of congress, but of all legislative bodies, will sit down some morning and ask himself candidly, "What am I here for?" and give his common sense an opportunity to answer, and then if he will paste the deduction in the top of his hat for ready reference, and stay by it, there would be fewer Pettigrews, Billy Masons, Pitchfork Tillmans, et al.

The common people live at home the year around. They are ordinary plodders, cultivating all sorts of industries, and all sorts of creeds, the most of them take time to cultivate a little patch of common sense somewhere about the premises. They have an eye on the gun, and while it may kick a little at the breech, it is more dangerous at the muzzle, as public servants frequently discover, when they fool with the buzz saw.

If the present congress fails by neglect or indifference to carry out the will of the people, by proper laws protecting the gold standard, there will be several public funerals before the next session.

DISTURBANCE IN KANSAS.

The public is never surprised at anything that happens in Kansas and so the late crusade of the fanatical woman, Mrs. Carrie Nation, in her window smashing escapade at Wichita, creates no particular commotion outside the scene of her operations, and her own home. Mr. Nation has asked for a divorce, which ought to be granted, while his wife is still at large.

That these conditions should exist in an intelligent state like Kansas, is deplorable and no body is to blame for it except the sentimental legislation that has so long cursed the state.

Kansas was besieged by a scourge of grasshoppers some years ago, from which she finally recovered, but ever since the fair state has been besieged by a hoard of cranks, that are extremely difficult to shake off.

Just now the state is cursed with a prohibition law, so far in advance of public sentiment that it fails to prohibit. Mrs. Nation has appointed herself the executrix of the law, and with hatchet in hand goes about the task with a vigor and determination for which the Kansas woman is noted.

The conditions existing in Kansas were paralleled in Iowa a few years ago, when that state attempted prohibition. The city of Ottumwa, in the center of the state, with a population of 25,000, had no saloons, but she had 100 disorderly houses, licensed as such, at $100 each per month. They paid for the privilege of being disorderly, and drunkenness and crime were so prevalent that life on the street after dark, in many parts of the city, was unsafe, and the week that closed without the record of a murder was a phenomenal one.

When Kansas abandons the leadership of the Mrs. Leases and Mrs. Nations and Sockless Simpsons and a lot of long haired fanatics that go around the country snorting about prohibition reform, and wakes up to the fact that you can't prohibit or even prevent the use of intoxicants by law, any more than you can prevent profanity by the same process, there will be some hope for the state. Because with the dawn of common sense will disappear the ghost of populism and a lot of other fads that have long blighted the state.

The practical work of Francis Murphy, the late Dwight L. Moody, and men of that class, is worth more to the cause of temperance and morality, than all the prohibition laws that were ever enacted, or ever will be.

The place to reform a life is at the spring. When the individual springs are pure, the courses that flow out into the current of national life, will make the stream pure and wholesome. You can't purify a stream by damming, neither can you prevent its flow. Its progress may be retarded for a little time, but unless an outlet is provided the current finds release, either over or through the obstruction.

The people of Kansas have spent too much time in building dams, and too little in purifying streams. The crop of new women has been larger than the crop of home keepers. Mrs. Nation is simply another type a little more dangerous because of the hatchet.

THE TAX COMMISSION.

The tax commission is preparing a number of bills to present to the legislature that will be of importance in helping that body to intelligently equalize the burden of taxes. There is no practical question that requires as much thoughtful and fair consideration as the question of taxes, and there is no commission of greater importance than the tax commission. The state has a real and personal property valuation of about $2,225,000,000. Something like twenty-five per cent. of this assessed valuation could be increased one-half and equitably distributed, one-fourth of one per cent. would keep the treasury amply supplied, and neither individuals nor corporations would be burdened. The tax commission is attempting to accomplish this equal distribution, and in the work is entitled to every encouragement. It should have ample time to work out results, and should eventually be made a permanent commission. The people are perfectly willing to pay for this kind of practical work, and it is money well invested.

STRICT TUTELAGE.

Relations of Apprentices and Master in the Middle Ages.

Apprenticeship was an important institution in France in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, and was regulated with the utmost care, as will be seen by the following account of "An Idler in Old France." By the rules of the book the master was held greatly responsible for his apprentice; and under a wise and kindly roof, the lad who was learning to be a master workman and a ruler in his little world might lead a happy and profitable life. Often he did so, and when the day came that he might claim his freedom, he chose to remain the paid servant, friend and fellow-worker of the master who had sheltered him from boyhood and taught him all his craft, rather than to seek a fortune less assured elsewhere. During the years of his apprenticeship the patron or master was to feed, clothe and shelter him, in the homely wording of the clockmaker's rule, to cherish him "beneath his roof, at his board and by his hearth." Nay, it was strictly enjoined upon the master to treat his apprentice "as his own son," and in some trades he was bidden to remember that his responsibility did not end on the threshold of the workshop, that the "soul and morals" of the little stranger had claims on his solicitude. In a day when the streets of Paris were not very nice for anybody, and were more or less dangerous after dark for everybody, the master was instructed to be careful of what errand he dispatched the youngster, and the pastry cooks, whose apprentices were often sent to cry cakes and creams upon the public ways, were continually warned to prevent the lads from falling among evil company. It seems certain that, so far as the middle ages are concerned, the rules, precepts and admonitions were not only framed with great good sense and care, but were very rigidly enforced upon all masters who had youths and lads in their employ. High and low, in the society of that day, the rod and birch were flourished, with small discrimination and less nicety; and if the tutors of little princes had leave to whip them freely, apprentices could not expect to come off too lightly at a master's hand.

To Protect Government Instruments.

Various scientific departments in England recently held a conference in which they sought to obtain government powers for protecting the delicate instruments in the Kew and Greenwich observatories from any magnetic disturbances that arise from the working of electric tramways and railways in their vicinity.

BOERS MENACE OUTDSHOORN.

Also Attack Garrisons in Neighborhood of Karoo Desert.

Cape Town, Jan. 25.—As predicted, the Boer commandos are extending throughout the south of the colony to the west of Krizinger and menacing Outdschoorn. The seaports are sufficiently defended, the civilians assisting to man the fortifications. The commandos, however, have no intention of undertaking the hopeless task of attacking these defenses. They confine themselves to the Karoo desert, whence they sally forth and assail the weak garrisons along the British lines of communication, paralyzing ordinary business. The death of Queen Victoria is the subject of regret here, although of late her popularity had somewhat waned. There always existed a strong personal bond between the Africans and the queen, and opinions are now divided as to the effect her death will have upon the relationship between the Africans and Great Britain. The military authorities have ordered Mr. Dewet, an African delegate who was recently in England for the purpose of enlightening the British people as to conditions in South Africa, to leave the colony and reside in Holland. On account of alleged treasonable practices the authorities call him "a dangerous character."

Operation on Kruger's Eyes.

Utrecht, Jan. 25.—An operation was performed on Mr. Kruger's eyes by Prof. Nellen and Dreyfmanns. The operation was perfectly successful.

A. O. U. W. Masquerade.

The A. O. U. W. masquerade at Assembly hall last night was a success in every sense of the word. Over 150 couples were in attendance, and participated in the mazy whirl. Costumes of every conceivable kind were to be seen and many of them were very attractive. Every kind of fun was indulged in by the maskers to the amusement of the spectators that lined the walls and filled the balcony. About 11 o'clock the masks were removed and many surprises were in store for those who were sure they had spotted some of their acquaintances. Smith's orchestra of six pieces furnished the music and kept the dancers moving until one o'clock, when the party broke up.

MRS. MYERS AFTER HER FURNITURE

Mrs. Jessie A. Myers is in the city today shipping her household goods to her home in Oshkosh.

Some parties here in the city had claims against Mrs. Myers, and when they found out she was about to ship the goods they put an attachment upon them. Mrs. Myers claimed that when she and Peter L. Myers separated she left furniture that belonged to her to the value of over one hundred and fifty dollars in the rooms occupied by them. Mr. Myers was to settle a couple of claims against her and keep the furniture. He did not keep his word so she came to the city paid the claims and took what furniture there remained.

Mr. Myers is not in the city having gone to Hudson, Wis., on a short trip for his health.

The Great $5.00 Cloak Sale.

The values offered are the talk of the town—many have taken advantage of the opportunity to secure a well made, well lined and a stylish coat at a very low price. At this five dollar figure are such good garments as oxford mixtures, black, kerseys, pebble and plain chevots, all being silk lined and with the finish that you would expect to find in good garments. With the coming of spring there are many days when you cannot wear that fur coat. This sale offers the chance of a substitute at a price that is little short of ridiculous. Each day we add a few coats from the racks to the line at the five dollar price and if you have looked and not been suited come in again. You may find the one you want. To be thoroughly satisfied it might be well to look through the other stocks about town then come to headquarters

FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT ORFORDVILLE

Addresses On Matters of Interest On Dairying, Sheep and Stock Raising—A Literary Program.

Orfordville, Jan. 25.—The farmers' institute conducted by Chas. Thorpe, Burnett, assisted by Supt. Geo. McKerrow, Madison, David Imrie, Roberts;
H. J. Noyes, Muscoda, E. C. Matheson, Pewaukee and N. E. Franc of Platt-ville met in convention at the town hall.

After an address of welcome Chas.
Thorpe gave a talk on "Dairy Cows"

and as a dairy breeder gave an interesting address on the qualities and breeds necessary to make a good dairy cow. The main points were that she should have size, quality and endurance, with a greedy appetite and a good constitution; showing a pedgree of bovine ancestors with good milk records; laying stress on the fact that his herd was of the Jersey breed.

His address was followed by the discussion of some points by the farmers present.

Supt. George McKerrrow delivered an address on sheep; calculating the many benefits derived from sheep husbandry, their diseases, care and treatment; selecting of sires and the marketing of the lambs.

In the afternoon session the first topic for discussion was "butter and cheese" by H. J. Noyes. Many questions were asked regarding the tests and markets and the time spent in the husbandry of sheep.

Supt. McKerrrow was next on the program with an interesting talk on practical feeding, pure and impure food; the mixture of the feed and above all to feed pure rations, not half.

He illustrated this by the political phrase "Full dinner pail," and the quoting of this was heartily applauded.

David Imrie was the next to respond on the subject of "Co-operative Dairing" stating in brief that one great advantage is that you get what belongs to you and that his butter or cheese may be manufactured at cost. Whatever profit there is derived from its manufacture is his.

His address met with the approval of the entire audience and many inquiries were made concerning the cost of running a creamery.

The evening session was a literary program under the management of a local committee.

The selections were well rendered and highly applauded by the large crowd in attendance.

RACINE'S CLUB COMING

Crack Polo Team of the West Will Be Here on Next Tuesday Evening.

Tuesday evening, January 29, at the Palace roller rink, the local public will be given a polo game that promises to be a warmly contested event. The visiting team is none other than the celebrated Horlicks of Racine. The team is on its way East to play in the large cities. Manager Taylor was very fortunate to secure them. The game between the two local teams that was to have taken place Monday night, has been postponed. The Horlicks will meet a team that will make them play every inch of the ground. Their opponents will be the best material to be secured in Janesville. The home team will be assisted by professional players, so that the event Tuesday night will be no one sided affair. The Horlicks are the crack team of the west, and no doubt the seating capacity of the rink will be taxed to its utmost.

TO SUPPRESS OPERA
HOUSE HOODLUMS

Gallery Boys Who Disturb the Performance Hereafter Will Regret That They Went to the Show

The matter of rowdism at the opera house during performances and the lack of an officer to keep order, was brought to the attention of the police committee of the common council this morning.

In speaking of the matter, the gentleman said that inasmuch as Mr. Myers did not pay a license to the city, he thought that it was his business to keep a man in the house during performances to preserve order. The council would be willing to appoint a special policeman for that duty if Mr. Myers would recommend some one for the place. The police have other things to attend to besides staying in the opera house every night there is a performance. If Mr.
Myers pays no license then the city should not be expected to go to the expense of having an officer on hand during the performances. Let Mr. Myers select a man for the position and the council will give him the necessary authority to keep the boys in the gallery quiet.

Will Organize Classes

Rev. R. C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church, is planning soon to start two or three classes for the study of the great fundamental truths of christian belief. These classes will extend over a period of about two months, and will be arranged in the matter of times of meeting to best suit the convenience of his members.

A VERY PLEASANT
SOCIAL GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stevens Entertain at Supper, with Dancing
Later.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Stevens were the hosts last evening at a very enjoyable social entertainment. About fifty guests were invited to partake of a six o'clock tea which was prepared and served in the faultless manner that characterizes Mrs. Stevens' hospitality.

After supper while the gentlemen were enjoying a comfortable smoke in the library the hostess announced that part II was yet to come. She had arranged for a few hours' dancing at the Myers house and led her guests in that direction.

This was a complete surprise to Mr. Stevens, whose knowledge of the affair stopped at the supper at the house. Tuckwood's orchestra furnished the music. While waltzes, two steps, etc., were given due attention no end of hilarity was occasioned by such old-time favorites as the money-musk, Virginia reel, crooked S, frish trot and old folks' quadrille.

GEORGE WEST, THE

George West, the Chicago reinsman, died at his home, 6,937 Drexel avenue

return from Ireland some weeks ago he has been failing and the end was not unexpected. He was unconscious for the twenty-four hours preceding his death.

Few drivers of trotting horses are been connected with the Western

Letters of sympathy have been sent pained to hear of his death.

THERE WILL BE NO MID-WINTER FAIR

That Was Definitely Decided at the Meeting of the Committee
Last Evening.

There will be no mid-winter fair in Janesville this year. The matter was definitely settled at a meeting of the committee held at Secretary F.
L. Clemmon's office.

The committee has spent considerable time on the canning factory project and concluded that they could not spare the time from their business necessary to make the fair a success.

The people of Janesville regret that no fair is to be held this winter as it was looked forward to alike by old and young as one of the pleasures of the winter. Since the Rock county fair association has gone out of existence the mid-winter fair has filled the vacancy left in the list of the annual events of the city. The fairs have always been a success, but have entailed a large amount of hard work on the gentlemen in charge, who have freely given their time to making it a fair of the first order. This year however, they do not feel that they have the time to give to the enterprise necessary to make it a success.

DEVER AND TOBIN
ARE FOUND GUILTY

At Rockford yesterday Edward Dever and Michael Tobin, whose trial was finished Wednesday afternoon, were found guilty as charged in the indictment.

Dever and Tobin are the parties that committed the robbery at the Curry farm near Beloit some time ago. At the time of the robbery Mrs. Curry was alone in the house, and was cruelly kicked and beaten by the robbers until she told them where a small sum of money was hidden. They made their escape at the time, but were later arrested and taken to Rockford for trial.

Mrs. Curry positively identified the two men as the ones that assaulted her, and Richard Gard saw them going toward the Curry home.

Mrs. William La Favre Dead.

Mrs. William La Favre of the town of Janesville died at her home on Wednesday afternoon after a short illness. She leaves a bereaved husband and two daughters, Mrs. Emma Borgman and Mrs. Theresa Kraus, both of Beloit. The funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home and at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's church.
The interment will be at Oak Hill cemetery.

A Certificate Worth Millions.

From the whirl of gossip in the financial center comes a little story of the contents of the strong tin box belonging to William L. Elkins. In the bottom of it there is a single certificate of stock of the Standard Oil company, which has not been touched for years. The certificate calls for 10, ket figure represents a face value of more than $8,000,000. Twenty-five years the Standard Oil company, and the 10,

HOUSE WORKS ON NAVY BILL.

Completes It with Exception of One Paragraph.

NAVY INCREASE ITEM HELD.

Congressman Cannon Says That with Present Allowance $310,000,000 Will Have Been Applied on Our New Navy—Senate Has Revenue Bill.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The house considered the naval appropriation bill all day and completed it with the exception of one paragraph. The item for increase of the navy will remain as reported—namely: two battle-ships and two cruisers. Some opposition was manifested to any increase of the navy, and Mr. Cannon of Illinois sounded a note of warning as to the size of our annual appropriations, and added that with the present appropriation $310,000,000 would have been spent on our new navy and we should stop. Since 1883, when the new navy began to be built, $27,000,000 had been appropriated for ships (including the provisions in the bill), but not including $83,000,000 still due on contracts. "With $753,000,000 of appropriations, including provision for the sinking fund, now in sight, for the coming fiscal year," said he in conclusion, "and as we are to reduce taxation, and we should inquire diligently into all these matters and not go beyond that which is necessary for the protection, glory and honor of the country."

SENATE HAS A NEW REVENUE BILL.

Dear Is Reduced to $1.50—Stamps Remain on Bank Checks.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The senate committee on finance reported the war-revenue reduction bill. The committee has stricken out entirely the bill that passed the house, and the measure which it brings into the senate is entirely of its own composition. Senator Aldrich made a statement explaining the changes, which are as follows:

Stamp taxes repealed: Promissory notes, mortgages, bills of lading for export, powers of attorney, protest, charter party, certificates of all kinds, leases, warehouse receipts, telegraphic dispatches, telephonic messages, postage tickets costing less than $30, express receipts, freight receipts, bonds except bonds of indemnity, agencies to religious, charitable, literary or educational institutions. Special taxes repealed: Commercial brokers, taxes reduced: Conveyances, insurance, bankers, capital, proprietary medicines, cigars, tobacco and beer.

It will be seen that the senate committee has refused to remove the tax on bank checks. The tax on beer is made $1.50. Taking the estimates of the treasury department as a basis, the reduction of revenue effected by the bill will be nearly $40,000,000, a reduction somewhat less than was produced by the bill as it passed the house of representatives. Among the taxes which the house removed entirely, but upon which the senate committee did not act, and which therefore remain, are the following:

Custom-house brokers, proprietors of theaters, circuses and other places of amusement, bank checks, drafts or bills or exchange, both inland and foreign money orders, brokers, contracts and manifests for custom-house entry.

COLDS

The quickest relief, for a cold, is by Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

We all have colds, you can try it and see. You will find the edge taken off in a night; and, in three or four days, you'll be wondering whether that cold amounted to any thing anyhow.

That's relief. If you tackle it quick, the relief is quick and complete, if you wait till the cold is in full possession of head and lung, why, of course the relief is quick if it comes in a week.

A little emulsion won't clear and restore your whole breathing-machine in a minute; don't be looking for miracles.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

Plunder in Hollow Bible.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The mystery attending various daylight burglaries in Lake View was cleared away when Captain Schuetzler's men arrested a thief who used a hollow Bible as one of his repositories for stolen goods. Other books, each of which had been reduced to a shell, the inner parts of the leaves having been cut away, were found also to contain plunder. The thief is Charles Ohman, a milkman in the employ of O. W. Anderson, a dealer at 1440 Belden avenue. The thefts cover a period of three months, and were committed when Ohman was delivering milk to Anderson's customers.

MANY EXPOSED TO SMALLPOX

Doctor Rube Virus on Body and Mingles with the People.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 25.—Citizens of this place are greatly aroused over the action of Dr. M. J. Rodermund, who is said to have gained admission to a place where there was a pronounced case of smallpox, broken the postulates that had formed on the patient's face and rubbed the virus over his own face, neck and arms, in order to prove his theory that the disease is not contagious, afterward going about his regular business and exposing hundreds of people to the disease. The whole city is greatly excited and serious trouble is expected. Dr. Rodermund was quarantined later at his residence. He did not resist the health officers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—Passenger train No. 308, known as the "Flyer," which left Cleveland at 2:10 o'clock p. m. over the Cleveland & Pittsburg road, jumped the track at a switch near Glenfield, eight miles below this city. The train was going at about a forty-mile rate. The engine was derailed and turned over, the parlor car and two coaches were thrown at right angles across the four tracks of the Fort Wayne road, and a blockade which required four hours to clear resulted. Engineer Holleran's shoulder was broken and he was badly hurt about the head and body, but will probably recover. The passengers suffered a severe shake-up, but beyond this none was injured.

LARGEST WOODEN SHIP.

It Was Constructed by Hiero, King of Syracuse.

The largest wooden ship ever built was that constructed by Hiero, king of Syracuse, under the direction of Archimedes. We are informed that Ptolemy Philopater had a ship 280 cubits long, 38 broad and 48 high. It carried 4,000 rowers, 400 sailors and 3,000 soldiers. That which the same prince made to sail on the Nile was 312 feet long, 45 feet broad, with a mast 120 feet high. But that was nothing compared with Hiero's ship. It had all the variety of apartments peculiar to a palace, banqueting rooms, galleries, gardens, fish ponds, stables, mills, baths, etc. It was encompassed with an iron rampart and eight towers, with walls and bulwarks, furnished with machines of war, particularly one, which threw a stone of 200 pounds on a dart twelve cubits long, the distance of half a mile. Though the hold was extremely deep, one man sufficed to keep it clear of water, by means of a machine now called the Archimedian screw. An Athenian poet made an epigram on this superb vessel, for which he was well paid. Hiero sent him 6,000 bushels of corn as a reward. Hiero, finding there was no port of Sicily capable of harboring this vessel in safety, resolved to make a present of it to King Ptolemy, and sent it to Alexandria.—New York Weekly.

The climax was reached on Jan. 16, when the thermometer at Dawson fell to 68 degrees below zero. A message from Forty Mile the same day said it was 73 below.

The coldest recorded before this time was in 1896, when it was not quite 68 near Forty Mile. The average for the seven days ending Jan. 16, at Dawson, was 58 below zero. All the time a dense fog hung over the entire valley.

Sea Molluscs in African Lakes.

An interesting exploration of Lake Tanganyika and the country north of it, finished recently, revealed the fact that while certain sea molluscs are found in this lake, it is the only one in all the large African lakes in which such phenomena are observed. This lake is only a short distance, some 80 miles, from the great Congo basin, much of which, without doubt, was once covered by the sea.

BAD BLOOD, BAD COMPLEXION.

The skin is the seat of an almost endless variety of diseases. They are known by various names, but are all due to the same cause, acid and other poisons in the blood that irritate and interfere with the proper action of the skin.

To have a smooth, soft skin, free from all eruptions, the blood must be kept pure and healthy. The many preparations of arsenic and potash and the large number of face powders and lotions generally used in this class of diseases cover up for a short time, but cannot remove permanently the ugly blotches and the red, disfiguring pimples.

Eternal vigilance is the price of a beautiful complexion when such remedies are relied on.

Mr. H. T. Shobe, 2764 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., says: "My daughter was afflicted for years with a disfiguring eruption on her face, which resisted all treatment. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many medicines were prescribed, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished the eruption began to disappear. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now seventeen years old, and not a sign of the embarrassing disease has ever returned."

S. S. S. is a positive, unfailing cure for the worst forms of skin troubles. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable.

Bad blood makes bad complexions.

SSS purifies and invigorates the old and makes new, rich blood that nourishes the body and keeps the skin active and healthy and in proper condition to perform its part towards carrying off the impurities from the body.

If you have Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, or your skin is rough and pimply, send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases and write our physicians about your case. No charge whatever for this service.

HONORED BY BRAINS.

SIR WILLIAM HUGGINS, NEW HEAD OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

President of England's Oldest and Greatest Scientific Institution is an Eminent Astronomer—Society Founded in the Reign of Charles I.

Though England knows well how to reward such of her sons as win distinction and glory on battlefields or in peaceful pursuits, even that proud country has no higher title, to the minds of its holders and others, than that expressed by the letters F. R. S. (fellow of the Royal Society). And it is well for old England that this simple title should be so highly regarded, for it marks membership in the greatest and oldest scientific society of Great Britain, if not of the world. It is an honor eagerly sought and only to be won by long and constant endeavor in the field of science or by other eminent services to England. To be president of this body is a distinction that falls only to the lot of one of the most learned scientists of the world.

The Royal society, as has been said, consists for the main part of eminent scientists. All branches of science, pure, applied, practical or exact, are represented.

ed. Only a man of the highest rank in his particular field may obtain election to the Royal society, for it is considered as the representative scientific body of the country. There are other specialized scientific bodies in England, such as the Chemical society, the British Association For the Advancement of Science, etc., all of the highest rank and which are represented by membership in the Royal society, but the latter may be taken to represent, so to speak, the collective scientific result.

The history of the Royal society dates back to about 1645, and enrolled upon its list of fellows or members have been many historic names. Its list of presidents includes such men as the immortal Newton, Sir Humphry Davy, Sir Joseph Banks and Lord Kelvin. The retiring president is Lord Lister, the "father of modern surgery." The new president, Sir William Huggins, is not as well known to the nonscientific reader as his predecessor, but his reputation in his chosen line, astronomy, is fully equal to that of Lord Lister in medicine. Sir William Huggins has spent most of the 70 years of his life secluded in his observatory, whence have issued some of the most valuable and important discoveries of modern astronomy. He built his own private observatory in 1856 and has devoted himself for the most part to spectroscopic astronomy—that is, to the discovery of the constituents of the heavenly bodies.

The new president of the Royal society has been loaded with honors both by his own and by foreign governments. He has received several prizes from the Institut de France, and he has won the Rumford and the Copley medals, the highest British marks of scientific distinction.
